

City school to host global conference

École Mondiale World School

Judged as the second best international day school in India for the second consecutive time, École Mondiale World School is now set to be the venue for a global conference. The school will host the 7th biennial world conference of The Alliance for International Education (AIE) from October 10 to 12. Taking place for the first time in the Asia Pacific region, the conference titled 'Intercultural understanding: reflection, responsibility and action' will introduce some of the world's leading experts in the field of international co-operation and understanding to local schools.

Philip Hudson, the principal of the school, says, "In these times of global unrest, radicalism and rebellion, it is important that all schools, especially those like ours with an international outlook, take responsibility for educating future generations in the attributes of international mindedness and intercultural awareness."

Known as an all-inclusive IB world school, École Mondiale has been chosen as a venue for the conference as it brings together the two distinct targets of holistic education, learning and life, where students can not only achieve amongst the highest grades in the country, but also learn to live responsible, active and productive lives.

The conference has already sparked interest abroad, with 80 to 90 delegates registered from many countries. The cost of this conference for Indian teachers is ₹10,000. Those interested can register by visiting www.intedal-liance.org. Indian teachers will qualify for a substantial discount.
